

PROJECT INDEX — “Fire, & Phoenix: Chicago 1871”

Digital Heritage Project

Authors: Abdulaziz Abdumajidov & Gülcihan Saçlı

Year: 2025

Document Table of Contents

1. Fire & Phoenix.html — Main Project File

Fully functional interactive website.

Size: 3,556 lines of code.

Includes: HTML (10 sections), CSS (fire theme & animations), JavaScript (interactivity & multilingualism), Canvas animations (flames, sparks, ash).

Usage: Open directly in browser.

2. REPORT.md — Main File: Project Essence

Detailed technical report for academic defense and evaluation.

Key Section: “1. GOAL AND PROJECT CONCEPT” — contains the core idea of the work.

Structure Overview:

Goal and Concept (Research Theme, Scientific Basis, Educational Method)

Technology Stack

Development Stages

Design & Animations

Results and Conclusions

Purpose: For defense, academic publication, and conceptual understanding.

3. PROJECT_STRUCTURE.md — Visual Architecture

Technical and visual structure of the website:
Code modules, file organization, visual hierarchy, and color scheme.

4. QUICK_REFERENCE.md — Presentation Guide

Concise cheat sheet for oral presentation and demo:
Key stats, 4 theses, Q&A;, and pre-defense checklist.

5. PRESENTATION.md — Short Visual Presentation

Summarizes the project's idea, results, and design — ready for slides.

6. PRESENTATION_SCRIPT.md — Oral Defense Script

Full 10–15 min spoken presentation:
Introduction, technical explanation, demo, results, and possible Q&A.;

7. TIMELINE_WORK.md — Development Process

Chronological record of 3.5 months of project development, week by week.

8. INDEX.md — Navigation File

Central index linking all project materials into one clear structure.

Recommendation

Start with REPORT.md (Section 1: Goal and Concept) — it contains the core essence of the entire project.